Expected Behavior

1. Storefront Orders

- All Storefront Orders should be assigned only to the All Here Team.
- Telesales Team should not receive any Storefront Orders.

2. Telesales Team

- The Telesales Team should only receive and manage Telesales Orders created through Create Order.
- Customer Orders coming from the Storefront should not be assigned to the Telesales Team.

Identified Issues

1. Storefront Orders Are Auto-Assigned to Telesales Agents

- When a Telesales Agent goes Online, Storefront Orders are automatically assigned to that agent.
- According to the defined assignment rules, Storefront Orders should not be assigned to Telesales Agents.

2. Storefront Orders Are Visible in the Telesales Team's Claimable Pool

- Storefront Orders are currently appearing in the Claimable Pool of the Telesales Team.
- As a result, Telesales Agents can claim Storefront Orders and access the customer's information.
- According to the defined rules, Telesales Agents should only receive Telesales Orders and should not have access to Storefront Orders.
- Therefore, Storefront Orders should be excluded from the Telesales Team's Claimable Pool.

Our system has three user statuses: Online, Offline, and Paused.

For the "All Here Team", we can use only the Online status, since our application distributes Storefront data only to online users.

Other teams can continue using the Offline status as needed.

Please discuss this approach with the Operations team and suggest using this status structure.

@mahi-falaq-digital ,

Shumon Vai informed, storefront orders are currently visible and accessible to the Telesales Team. As a result, they can personally claim those orders and treat them as their own, which is completely against the business policy.

Additionally, they are gaining access to storefront customers' information that they are not supposed to have access to.

This creates a business process violation, that's why he raised this issue.
